A message from our second Music Director Finalist, Dr. Scott Seaton!

It is so great to be in Juneau and working with the passionate musicians of the Juneau Symphony. What an astonishingly beautiful place to call home! This being a milestone of Beethoven anniversary years, it's especially great to bring such well-known pieces of musical history to life this month and to exist in the world of Beethoven, the eternal optimist, with you all.

To make things even more special, our soloist and my dear friend Andrew Sords will join us for what I'm sure will be a very memorable Bruch concerto. Andrew and I go back to 2009 and have performed in many states and countries together since then on a plethora of concerti. We've had a lot of fun over the years as evidenced by this particular bloopers video of a promo we did back in 2016 when he performed the Sibelius concerto with the North State Symphony:

As an outdoor enthusiast, it is so wonderful to be in a place where there is skiing practically in the city! Needless to say, I'll be getting out to Eaglecrest to do some skiing while I'm here and invite any of you all to get in a few runs with me. Otherwise, I'm an avid runner (15 marathons) and cyclist and you'll also find me in the local gyms (since it's probably a bit too cold to run outside!) preparing for a marathon I have in mid-May this year.

I look forward to talking with and getting to know as many of you as I can during my visit in Juneau!

Musically yours,
Scott

Sticky Notes: the classical music podcast!

Beethoven's Fifth Symphony shattered conventions and built new ones that have endured in music until this very day. This podcast explores how Beethoven built this revolutionary symphony, and how he both borrowed from his predecessors and moved away from them. It also discusses the cultural, philosophical, and political connotations of this monumental piece.
